"I ACCEPT YOUR NOMINATION IN THE CONFIDENT TRUST THAT THE MASSES OF OUR COUNTRYMEN, NORTH AND SOUTH, ARE EAGER TO CLASP HANDS ACROSS THE BLOODY CHASM WHICH HAS TOO LONG DIVIDED THEM. FORGETTING THAT THEY HAVE BEEN ENEMIES IN THE JOYFUL CONSCIOUSNESS THAT THEY ARE AND MUST HENCEFORTH REMAIN BROTHERS."—HORACE GREELEY.

NATIONAL BANKS.

National Banks whenever and wherever established, are always made the instruments of corruption. Under the old system of Banking in this country, our free Government began to feel seriously its contaminating influence, and when during the administration of General Jackson, the people became aroused upon that subject, led on by that honest and incorruptible man, they wiped out that spurious system, which then as now and must ever, tend to corrupt any people, who are struggling to establish or perpetuate republican government.

After the Government of the United States had annihilated National Banks, and declared against class legislation and gigantic monopolies, our people flourished beyond parallel in the history of civil government, and without let or hindrance, we marched on to greatness, to the astonishment of the civilized world, until the time when we were overtaken by the disasters of internal strife, which shook it to its very center, our great superstructure of human liberty. Time rolled on, and the thundering of a million cannon loaded by and fired at brothers, had died away and the smoke of the bloody battle field had gone, and the atmosphere once more clear, it was discovered that the servants of the party in power, had been unscrupulously taking advantage of their position, while the attention of the people, their constituents, was wholly engrossed in the war, and had been fastening upon them among other bad institutions, the old system of national banks, or what is equivalent thereto the present banking system. Now we claim this was done by corrupt men for corrupt purposes, and for the special benefit of the few to the great and manifest injury of the people at large. By this system as inaugurated and carried out, the very few upon whom fortune has smiled, are made and constituted privileged characters to the great detriment of the masses and working people, who are the bone and sinew of any country.

If an individual at the present time in this country, has accumulated bonds of the Government to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, no matter what they cost, in many cases perhaps not more than fifty per cent, he is privileged, and he is authorized by a law of Congress, passed by the Republican party, to deposit those bonds with the Government and draw his interest on them semi-annually from the Government in gold coin. What next? The Government then agrees, simply because the more able to own the bonds, to give him ninety thousand dollars to take home with him, establish a bank, loan out the money, if in Oregon at twelve per cent, and speculate upon it as long and as much as he pleases, and the Government stands good for every dollar. So, the privileged individual gets twelve per cent upon the ninety thousand, which this most generous Government gives him the use of for nothing, so long as he will allow his bonds to lie in the safe of the Government, instead of his own safe, drawing, of course, just as much interest deposited in the one place as the other. The result of this personal privilege then is, that the individual gets his regular seven per cent in gold semi-annually upon his hundred thousand dollars and twelve per cent and as much more as he can make on the ninety thousand which he receives as a present from the Government, making in all nineteen per cent. So much for the personal privilege.

In addition to the principle of personal privilege inaugurated by the said act, the people are swindled by a depreciated currency. The ninety thousand dollars when issued by the banks are worth to the public, to whom it is paid, from eighty-five to ninety cents on the dollar only. Now mark, this paper currency is the money of the Government struck off by its authority and loaned without interest to these privileged characters, who loan it to the people at an enormous rate of interest and the people are compelled to sacrifice from ten to fifteen per cent to get rid of it, and yet this whole system is based upon, and has for its foundation, the bonds of the United States which are worth their face in gold at home and abroad. A system like this is rotten to the core. The abolition of which should be accomplished without delay. But this is one of the pet schemes of the present administration, and so long as the people submit and wear the yoke, it will be perpetuated. The Liberal Republican party is opposed to this swindle, and are fully aware of the fact that they have this gigantic moneyed monopoly to fight in the present campaign. It exceeds the duties of the hour with manly courage, and will fight it out on this line.

WHAT THEY SAY.

The Grant papers, since the recent elections, say, "Greeley stands no show for election." Well, if that be so, why do they take so much pains, and what the necessity of their occupying their time in writing and publishing so many lies about him?

The Grantites say Grant is sure to be elected. We venture the assertion that if he is, it will be by the votes of the negroes who know nothing of the government under which they live; by the votes of the straight outs, composed of the rebel element of the Democratic party; by the votes of the drunkards, gamblers, robbers and outlaws.

The personal government men say that Greeley can never be elected. That may be so, but mark this,—Horace Greeley will receive the majority of the white, honest, temperate, moral, peaceable, industrious, law abiding and sensible citizens and voters of this country, on the fifth of November next. If the substantial citizens of the United States will permit themselves to be drawn into the support of an individual, who has sprang up among them like a mushroom, purely a creature of circumstances and chance, without the least merit in civil life, half knave half fool, a drunkard, a gambler and debauchee, who has degraded himself to the level of the brute; mingled his blood; when rioting in drunkenness, with that of the filthy Indian of the pacific coast; who has left behind him on his march to greatness, half bred progeny, untutored, unlearned, half fed and uncared; who, after being raised to the highest round in the ladder of fame, will spend his time away from his public duties at Long Branch and Pullman's Island, petting pups and squandering his money, your money, on fast horses; who hath redness of eyes from tarrying long at the wine; and thus defeat an honest, capable, moral, temperate and worthy man for President, the errors that may or shall fall upon this people, resulting from such conduct, will be upon them. We warn them that while we may be powerless to prevent, yet, for all this, the unerring Ruler of the universe will ultimately call them into judgment.

A Directory of the State is to appear within a short time.

The Bulletin has become the leading journal in Oregon on the Grant side. However wrong it may be in its advocacy of this blind usurper, the Bulletin is sound on the dam Lock swindle. Mr. Omeara has so far outdone the balance of the Grant papers in Oregon in his laudations of George H. Williams, President Grant and Ben Holladay, that many of those journals are becoming quite rational in tone.

HOW THE ELECTIONS ARE GARRIED.—The city of Philadelphia, where Tom Murphy and the balance of Grant's hirelings could work to the best advantage; where they could find the most ignorance, ruffians and Grant rebels, Straight Outs, and where they could purchase more whiskey for the amount of money expended than any other place in the State, cast a very large vote for the drunken nepotist. If this ignorant usurper is re-elected President of the American Republic, it will be by his army of appointees, 80,000 strong, who are constantly perambulating the country, and purchasing the seam of its citizens with the people's money.

The Dallas paper has ceased publication.—Monmouth Paper. No it hasn't, nor does not expect to will the Messenger please correct its error?
